Dear Devotees of Baba Tapasviji on his Majestic ship of Sat Kartar Beda Par EVERYTHING HAPPENS FOR THE BEST

Great spiritual masters have always spoken little as they could transmit knowledge of truth for their chosen ones with just a few words.

You must have heard these words EVERYTHING HAPPENS FOR THE BEST. Those who have imbibed these words of spiritual masters never got affected with ups and downs in their life as they knew whatever was stored in their future was for their best.

In other words imbibing of these words brings about a positive approach in one's life.

Here is a short story..... there used to be a painter in old times and once having completed an awesome painting he was to display it in a exhibition cum fair and sell it for his livelihood. Everthing went as per his plan and just in the morning when he was taking the painting to the fair in his horse cart, he encountered a riot enroute to the Exhibition/Fair venue.

The unruly mob started attacking his transport horse cart and some notorious element from the mob stole his masterpiece. After having gone through the unexpected horrible experience of the loss of his art which meant a great deal to him as he believed for sure that someone from the mob had vandalized his piece of work. He was very depressed yet in his mind he believed in his spiritual master's words that EVERYTHING HAPPENS FOR THE BEST.

Though very depressed yet with a positive approach towards life and to re channelize his state of mind he still decided to go head and go to the Exhibition/Fair – he patted his horses of his horse cart and just like his horses he decided to move and forge ahead with his life without his master piece of art but with the golden teaching of his Master in his heart that Everthing happens for the best while his painting would have fetched him a very good price at the fair.

He reached the venue and while the other participants in the Exhibition/Fair and all others at the venue tried to console him he told them that whatever had happened was for the best and everyone was amused with his approach towards life that he projected and took his experience as a matter of inspiration.

The Exhibition was over and the painter came back to his village and once again took his brush and started again painting on the canvass his next piece of work hoping to sell it in the next upcoming Exhibition/fair.

In the meantime someone from that vandalizing mob that had ransacked his horse cart and had stolen his painting, stole it went and sold it to a shop in the neighbouring village which in turn in due course of time sold it to an art merchant and in matter of a year the painting surprising landed up in a foreign land in hands of an art collector who must have bought that painting from the art merchant in the neighbouring village at a high price knowing the value of the painting.

As time passed by, years later In that foreign land an auction took place of sale of art paintings and in that auction that same stolen painting stood as one the outstanding piece of work originating from various countries. The person who bid the highest price knew again the value of this painting and the art collector who took part in the auction got a decent amount for this masterpiece but deep down in his heart felt to part and give half of that amount to the painter who must have painted it.

The art collector took all the trouble and contacted this painter in the country of origin of this masterpiece and having met the painter in the village and gave him half of the value he received by virtue of the auction sale. The painter was amused and knew this was the unfoldment of his masters words that everthing happens for the best and this day he was experiencing the same truth of his master's words. Coincidentally he he was in dire need of funds to build a home for himself as all his life he was staying in the village in a rented one room house. That same painting brought him a large mansion with farmland and at the entrance gate of his farm he eventually installed a small idol of his Guru with a stone plate embedded with words EVERYTHING HAPPENS FOR THE BEST.

What is the moral of the story ?

For the best of the devotee of a Guru it is always the best that is stored in life – Everthing happens for the best.

Look within deep and try and analyze and contemplate with some of the happenings in your life in the past and you will conclude that whatever happened was for your best as the Guru knows your past, the present as well as the future.

Gurus are beyond time and space and everything that happens for their best devotees is always for the best – EVERYTHING HAPPENS FOR THE BEST !

Try painting a small canvas with these words and hang it at the main door entrance of your home - it will mean a great deal of lot for not only you but also for all those who come into your life.
